

Dear sir or madam:

We are not Clear Channel or Cumulus, nor do we walk the line with controversial content.

We are a small market broadcaster here in Jamestown, ND where we know well the level of on-air propriety expected by our miwestern audience with deeply traditional values.

Many other broadcasters like ourselves are both NOT going to be the source of any obsence material and the the LEAST able to afford the enormous expenses the 60-day taping proposal would impose.

Such equipment, plus the manpower resources needed to man it and track it and file it, would truly be a financial hardship on our operation.

I strongly suggest that if it is truly felt this type of action is needed, which I do not feel is the case, it be limited to large markets and/or large syndicators.

My personal feeling is that ample methods to control indecent conduct already exist-large fines on such material and the publics ability to complain directly to the FCC on any content they are not comfortable with.

Respectfully,

Patrick R. Pfeiffer, VP/GM
